What Is an Accrecy Profile and Why Do I Need One?

Learn what an Accrecy Profile is and how it helps you manage your professional information, credentials, applications, and employment activity in one place.

Getting Started | Account & Profile

Published: Sep 13, 2026 • Updated: Oct 30, 2026

What Is an Accrecy Profile?

An Accrecy Profile is your personal professional profile inside Accrecy.

It stores important information about you, including:

- Personal information
- Contact information
- Address
- Qualified positions
- Credentials and certifications
- Availability
- Job applications
- Employment-related information

Your Accrecy Profile is separate from your login account. Your account lets you sign in, while your profile is the professional information you manage after signing in.

Why Do I Need One?

You need an Accrecy Profile to use many of Accrecy's personal and employment features.

With your profile, you can:

- Apply for jobs
- Share your professional information with providers
- Manage credentials and certifications
- Keep your information updated
- Manage employment activity
- Access provider workspaces when employed
- Complete work-related documentation assigned to you

One Profile, Multiple Providers

You do not need to create a new Accrecy Profile for every provider you work with.

Your Accrecy Profile belongs to you and can be used as you apply to or work with different providers in Accrecy.

Keep your profile accurate and up to date so providers can review the correct information when needed.
